UNGRUNU, SALUKDAY, SEPLEMBER 2, 1882.

Our local contemporaries appear to be strangely concerned at the statements, referring to the government policy in Hongkong, made by the Pall Mall Gazette in an "inspired" paragraph, which we repro--duced in our columns yesterday. The unsettled state of mind of the Daily Press oracle, after perusing the London paper's somewhat singular effusion, may be imagjournal of this date. The "gentle Jenina" of the Hongkong press has again varied his programme, and appeared in a new, and let us add, an unseemly character. The mealy mouthed apostle of a cup and saucer press policy has out-heroded Herod by his vehement diplay of powerful invective and abusive scurrility. And what handling of offensive adjectives, and general use of unjustifiable insinuations and yulgar and altogether unnecessary abuse mean?-- It simply means that our contemrival in that wide field of indiscriminate notoriety, and they evidently resent the Pall Mall Gazetle's appearance on the scene, as an impertinent intrusion. The Daily . Press means something else, only it lacks the courage to give utterance to certain dastardly insinuations which it would fain induce the community to infer and endorse. Let us briefly refer to our contemporary's firebrand leader, and investigate the paragraph which has aroused such a storm in JEMIMA's sugar basin.

the Governor's departure, Mr. No Choy, Cowardly lies? We have no intention of the only Chinese member of the Legis going into the house property swindle at lative Council, prophesied that any re- present; but we may state, as we did at versal of his policy, or any retrogade step; the commencement of the bubble, that a would inevitably be followed by the dis- very great deal of responsibility for the trust of the Chinese and the withdrawal of disastrous results of the mad speculations their capital. Unfortunately this warning was unheeded. The Chinese became alarmed at one or two apparently unfriendly acts of the Administrator as soon as the Governor had left. The conscquence was a steady outflow of Chinese, with their money, which has now reached such a pitch that on June 10, only three short months after the Governor's strong hand was removed from the helm, a public meeting of the colonists was called "for the purpose of discussing the reasons which have led to the withdrawal of native capital from the Colony." Confidence a plant of slow growth, especially in the sensitive and suspicious minds of Asiatics, and, unless Lord KIMBERLEY interferes, the good effects of the work of the past five years will be effaced from the minds of the native population, which, after all forms the backbone of the prosperity the Colony, and of our whole trade with China." Let us in the first place expressiour opinion that, although the above paragraph contains a great deal of what is absolute truth, is in fact mainly correct, it is not strictly accurate in certain details, to which shall presently refer. There appears tainly to be some misunderstanding or misapprehension as to the real cause which led to the steady outflow of Chinese, with their money" from this Colony shortly after the departure of Governor HENNESSY, and this has led to a grave injustice having been done to His Excellency the Administrator. The information supplied to the Pall Mall Gazette with regard to this particular incident was either strangely inaccurate, or so vague and misleading as to cause the paragraphist to draw unwarranted inferences therefrom. With the exception of this single mis-statement, which, considering that the truth could not possibly be disguised, may reasonably enough be put down to ignorance or misconception, every line, nay, every word of the paragraph is absolutely true in substance and in fact.

hoasted champion of independence and -truth-deal-with-these-references-to-the-government policy in Hongkong? Like the high class, reliable and independent journal it pretends to be? Certainly not; but like a snarling cur, blind to the great principles of right and wrong, it professes with such effusiveness to uphold, deaf to every thing but its own harmless vituperation. Fortunately the Pall Mall Gazette states its case so clearly, and the facts are so well known in the Colony, that there is no posing their judgment, either by deliberate mis-statement, contemptible inuendoes, or vulgar abuse. The Daily Press commences its war of words by plainly characterising the paragraph in the Palt Mall Gazette, "a tissue of scandalous falsehoods." As is this were not sufficiently comprehensive, the next sentence tells us that is a "mendacious composition," and 'transparent untruth." The writer then ined from the "leader" in the morning proceeds to say that it is "a foul and false slander" which must have been inspired, and insinuates that Sir John Pope Hennessy was the source of inspiration. Waxing valiant as he warms to his work he affirms that "a more infamous libel was never penned" and that the untruthfulness of the ruhole of the statements is transparent in this Colony. "Unfortunately," says our contemdoes all this literary thunder, this free, porary, "it will not be equally clear toreaders in England; the writer of the complunique must, indeed, be credited with a diabolical ingenuity in his tergiversation." We may here explain en parenthèse that poraries have discovered that they have a the French word communique (our contemporary evidently knows nothing of French, lying in which they have justly gained such as he drags in the word on two separate occasions, in both instances omitting the acute accent, without which the term is absolute nonsense) means an official communication, so that again the Daily Press wishes its readers to believe that Sir John Pope Hennessy either wrote or supplied the paragraph to the London paper. Getting wearied of abuse, our contemporary changes its tactics and goes in for a spell of deliberate lying, We do not hesitate for one instant in plainly stating, and we The Pall : Mall Gazelle says :- "It is to do it without the slightest fear of contrabe hoped that the Colonial Office will diction, that the assertion made by the scrutinise carefully the doings of the offi- Daily-Press-"that-the-Chinese themselvesicers who are administering the govern- now seem disposed to throw some of the ment of Hongkong during Governor Sir blame of this gambling (the house property POPE HENNESSY's temporary absence. Native timidity published for interested purposes. What and suspicion were gradually replaced by can an intelligent public think of a newsconfidence in our administration; Chinese paper which writes an article for the capital was freely invested in land and express purpose of decrying unfounded various industrial enterprises in the Colony, statements, and deliberately revels in a and the Chinese had commenced to settle series of, what every person in the Colony permanently on the island. which well-nigh ruined the Colony, must be laid at the door of the Daily Press. It is notorious that this pretended organ of respectability bolstered up the house property bubble by misleading statements, made for purposes which we care not to attempt to fathom, at a time when this journal was day after day warning the Chinese against the hollowness of the whole business. These are facts which cannot be controverted, which can be proved by references to the files of the Daily Press and the Hongkong Telegraph, and yet in the face of all this, Sir John Pork Hennessy must be held up to censure as having been the cause of this discreditable gambling. Carr any newspaper descend lower than this! We think

We have said that the Pall Mall Gazette paragraph is substantially correct, excepting so far as regard the references to the causes which led to the outflow of Chinese, with their money, from the Colony, and to the public meeting held in the City Hall. It will hardly be denied even by Governor HENNESSY's most bitter opponents, or by Mr. Marsu's best friends, that it will be advisable for the Colonial Office to carefully scrutinise the doings of the Administrator in governing this Colony during the Governor's absence. It is imperative that Mr. MARSH should administer the government on the lines followed by Governor HENNESSY during the past five years. It is also true enough that what is termed "the policy of fair play to the preponderating Chinese population" was barried out against a very strong local opposition, and that this policy has actually been followed by its natural result. There can be no doubt whatever that native timidity and suspicion were gradually replaced by confidence, during Governor HENNESSY's administration, and it cannot be disputed that Chinese influence, which previously had no tangible existence, has become a great power in the Colony. is undoubted that Mr. No Choy did prophesy that any reversal of Governor HEN-In what fashion does the Daily Press, the NESSY's policy, or any retrogade step, would inevitably be followed by the distrust of the Chinese and the withdrawal of their capital. It is also a matter of fact that Mr. Marsh's action with reference to certain appointments in the Government service, made immediately after he took the oaths, as Administrator, led generally to the impression that the new regime would be as far as possible a reversal of Governor HENNESSY's policy. Where then, we ask, are the "scandalous falsehoods," or annual transfer of the contract of the cont sparent untruths," "the infamous libels," &c., &c., of the Daily Press ? most excruciatingly comic contemporary. His Excellency the Administrator might well exclaim "save me from my friends." That Mr. Maksu has been misrepresented and unfairly dealt with, so far as the particular matter already referred to is concerned, admits of no doubt. And we are exceedingly sorry that such should be the case. We could not conscientiously approve of His Excellency's action with regard to the appointments he made on his assuming the, responsibilities of Administrator, simply because we considered it a direct and gratuitous slap in the face to the Governor's supporters; but we are glad at being able to approve of Mr. Marsu's general policy, in all matters apportaining to the welfare of the Colony. His Excellency's administration, so far as we can judge, does not require to be bolstered up by newspaper partisanship of the character represented by the Daily Press article we have just re-

In a letter from an officer of the Invincible mention is made of a hitherto unpublished fact in connection with the spiking of the guns at Alexandria. When volunteers were called for to go ashore and spike guns, nearly every hand in the ship expressed a desire to be selected. Ultimately ten torpedo men were chosen, and they landed in charge of the flag-lieutenant under cover of the ship's guns. The dingy was conveying the men from the shore to the steam-launch where to was struck by a snor and mundered. The occupants all succeeded in swinning to the launch, and were brought safely on board. The Admiral shook hands with each of the men emr. ployed on this dangerous service, and told them how proud he was to feel he had such men under his command. Admiral Seymour's kindly attention to the wounded is marked, and on all hands gratification is expressed at being under the command of such an officer.

Egypt is held by Mahomedans as the key of Mecca and Medina, and all are bound by their religious law to defend these hely-places and the ways leading to them. THE citadel of Cairo, which is now being strengthened and furnished with stores for a garrison of 13,000 men, in expectation of England's threateried attack, stands on a steep, rocky bluff above the city. It was the favorite residence of the famous Egyptian dictator of the last generation, Mehemet Ali Pasha, who strongly fortified it and kept a number of heavy cannon constantly pointed from its walls at the city below to overawe the disaffection which his iron rule inevitably produced. The walls are still in tolerable repair, and might give some trouble to a force unprovided with heavy siege artillery. About the ramparts are visible at a considerable distance the tall, slender, white minarets of the Muhammedich Mosque, built by Mchemet Ali. This one of the principal ornaments of Cairo, its interior being decorated with a richness of coloring unmatched in the world, except, perhaps, by the Alhambra Palace of Granada in Spain. In front of the main entrance lies a vast paved quadrangle surposided by a low colonnade, which has acquired a tragic historical renown as the scene of the famous "massacre of the Mamelukes," by order of the Pasha. Mehemet, finding in the turbulent independence of these warlike chiefs a formidable obstacle to his cherished scheme of absolute power, invited them to a banquet in the courtyard of the citadel. They rashly accepted the treacherous courtesy and were suddenly fired upon in the midst of their revel by a detachment of soldiers concealed in the encircling colonnade. All perished save one, the son of the principal chief, who alone preserving his presence of mind, threw himself upon the ground and succeeded in reaching his horse, which was tied to an adjoining pillar. Springing upon its back, he cut his way through his swaiming assailants, and, finding the gates shut against him, took a flying feap from the top of the wall, a height of eighty feet. The horse was killed on the spot, but the daring Mameluke, escaping with a broken limb, crawled away and hid himself before he could be

A ROMAN correspondent of the Times telegraphs. on July 24th :- "I have much satisfaction in stating, with authority, that a violent article in last night's Diritto, in which England is de nounced in unmeasured language for the damage done to property at Alexandria, and Europe is enjoined to insist upon full reparation for this outrage, committed in the full light of the nineteenth century,' is highly reprobated and deplored by the Italian Government; and the more so inasmuch as this paper enjoyed the reputation of being an official organ.". Signor Crispi, ex-Minister, is at Berlin, but denies that he has any political mission there.

WRITING from Lima on June 15, the correspondent of the Western Morning News states that a Bill has passed the Chilian Congress, and meets no resistance anywhere, incorporating Africa, Cerro de Pasco. Two Chilian officers, accompanied by two soldiers, arrived at the works, and were hospitably received and given comfortable quarters for the night. On the stage of the Lyceum Theatre, on July 26th, Mr. Boucicault delivered to a large audience of actors interested in the drama a lecture on the "Art of Acting-Its Rules and Principles." of a horse. The Signor and his steed were rewarded The lecturer's object was to show that acting with great applause, which did not cease until might usefully be taught like painting and other arts. With this view he dealt with his subject under the several heads of articulation, gesture, posture, and study of character, each of which he illustrated from his own experience of the stage. As regarded gesture and posture, in particular, he showed that the true principles of the art existed merely, as a tradition, and had to be picked up by the conscientious actor as best he could. It was not enough to behave on the stage as one would do in real life, as the lecturer proved by the simple act of picking up his hat from the table to walk out. The actor had to remember that his every action was presented as in the frame of a picture, and that it had to be studied with reference to the effect it would produce upon the house. The art of listening, and of continuing to sustain a character, even when he had nothing to say, was, therefore, an important part of the actor's art, though a part, unfortunately, much neglected. Under the head of posture the lecturer insisted upon the necessity of cultivating the "lost art of walking"-an art now possessed only by uncivilised people, whose ankles had free play and who were in the habit of carrying weights upon their heads. The study of character, he showed, ought to be "from within," and not "from without." In other words, the character ought to be drawn from the sude and the costume fitted to it afterwards. V It was also desirable, whenever possible, to study a character from life as Charles Matthews and Farren did for their parts of Dazzle and Sir Harcourt Courtly in "London Assurance." On all the points the lecturer contended that a course of instruction, such as was followed at the Conservatoire, would be beneficial to those who desired to adopt the stage as a profession. The lecture, interspersed as it was with much genial anecdote and practical illustration, was both entertaining and instructive, and at its close Mr. Boucicault received the cordial thanks of the

BAND NIGHTS AT THE PUBLIC GARDENS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONGRONG TELEGRAPIL" SIR,—Your correspondent "Musican" has done additional seats being provided in the Public Gardens on band nights, as I know for a fact that to whom the public are indebted for these very ennights in the Gardens of resting their weary limbs on the seats, as those in the immediate vicinity of the band-stand are always occupied; and it must be remembered, that while the general public can partially relieve fatigue by sauntering about while the band is playing, the unfortunate bandsmen have to stand still in a fatiguing attitude, and therefore, more than others, need some rest during the intervals between the pieces. .. It is no joke to have to stand up during a period of some three hours in this weather, as the bandsmen under present conditions have to do. 'I would suggest that, on band nights, seats specially set apart for the bandsmen be ranged near the band-stand, whereby a keenly felt grievance would be removed. The least the public can do is to see that men who afford them so much enjoyment on band nights are not put to positive discomfort in doing so.

Yours, &c.,

THE KOREAN QUESTION.

As might be expected, the native papers teem with all kinds of reports, rumours and guesses upon the Korean imbroglio. This is only natural, and pretty much the same thing occurs at home when any disturbance is on foot. Yesterday however, the Daito Nippo, a journal credited with enjoying official patronage and therefore likely to be kept better informed than its Liberal contemporaries, issued an extra which furnishes matter for serious reflection. It is there stated that the Chinese Minister at Tokio has informed the Japanese Foreign Office that his Government regard Korea as a dependency, and the army and fleet sent to that country by China are intended to project the Korean Government.

- This announcement confirms the intelligence received here from Yokohama that 15,000 Chinese troops had crossed the Korean frontier, while a strong naval force had been despatched to Ninsen, the port of the capital. It may be that the restore order, and in such case the operations of the Chinese would materially assist in an amicable settlement of the demands for redress which Japan is entitled to make. But on the other hand, and the ill-feeling which has so long existed between the two Empires makes the hypothesis her stomach. by no means improbable, China may elect to resent any interference by Japan with her dependency, and thus seek to either provoke war, or as an alternative inflict humiliation upon the Government of this country in retaliation for the annexation of Loochoo. It may be taken for granted that the Mikado's Government will assent to no course which a right sense of the on the 30th August, and may be expected here on dignity of the Empire requires to be rejected. Thus the tortuous policy habitually pursued by the Tsung-li Yamon may result in Japan finding

S. S. Co. to state that the postponement of the de- bination to that which existed during Hideyoshi's parture of the Belgic is due to the Namon, which invasion, and saddled with the cost and anxiety of an offensive war. But the Chinese Government appear to have overlooked one element in quarantine about two this afternoon, and it is ex- | the affair which may prove of serious consequence pected that the Belgic will be despatched about to them. Burdened with such a war Japan would be compelled in self defence to seek an alliance which-would more than counterpoise any assistance China could possibly afford Korea. In taking such a course Japan would be abundantly fortified by precedent, indeed the example of England is in itself quite sufficient. Now there have been symptoms largely reinforced, although there seemed no reason for such a step, and frontier questions are constantly arising between the two countries which the Czar's Ministers, in whom the Peking diplomatists find at least their match, can readily fan into a specious pretext for hostilities if it serves their purpose. Russia, too, apparently entertains a lingering suspicion that she did not come off with flying colours in the Ili dispute, and is above all things desirous of a better harbour in the North Pacific than Vlatlivostock. To Russia, therefore, for these and many other obvious reasons, Japan would naturally turn for assistance. There is little doubt this would be readily conceded, Port squeezed from China, being the rewards of the inevitable success which would attend the operations of the allies. Whether England and the others Powers interested will permit such a combination to be forced on Japan by Chinese interference in a matter solely affecting Korea and this country is, we should hope, very unlikely indeed. The treaty concluded between the two countries, and to which China tacitly assented, assumes the perfect independence of the peninsular Kingdom, and if the Peking Government desire for their own ends to embroil Japan, they should be sternly warned that China would such case have to reckon upon more than a single eremy.—Hiogo News.

A MAN-EATING TIGRESS.

While speculating over the chances of any thing serious occurring through the recent escape of Signor Chiarini's black panther-a result, by the way, which we do not anticipate, unless the loss of a few pigs or chickens may be regarded as serious—the story of a real man-eater, which we had read in an Indian newspaper, flashed across our memory. The story is worth telling. For some considerable time a man-eating tigress had been the terror-and scourge of a small tract of hill country in Western Garhwai, which looks good service in bringing to the notice of the down across the Ganges upon the sacred shrine authorities the great necessity which exists for of Rikhikesh. From first to last, she is said to have killed between fifty and sixty human beings. A considerably higher estimate, indeed, is current many ladies stay away on account of the insuffi- in the neighbourhood. Last year she became a cient accommodation in this respect, fearing to proclaimed offender, and a reward was set upon have their delicate physical powers over-taxed by her head. So widely influences did-she become having to walk or stand during the whole evening. I that it is somewhat surprising she did not obtain However, my chief object in addressing you more attention from the sporting manhood o now is to draw attention to the fact that the band, our cantonments, particularly when we consider that her haunts were within two marches joyable entertainments, have no chance on band of so well known and accessible a place as Hurdwar. Such attempts, however, as we made to circumvent her, whether on the part forest hunters' and others, or natives, invariably failed. Her wariness and activity seemed to be altogether extraordinary. From some spot on the hillside she would watch group at work in the fields and regularly stalk thein by careful and circuitous approaches, and then, dashing in among them she would pick off her victim and in a few seconds be down the side of one hill and under cover and up another al most before his companions had time to look around. The sound of bamboo cutting was so well known to attract her that that industry for the time entirely ceased within her beat. Of course occasional failures are recorded against her; one plucky fellow cudgeled her off the friend she seized by his side with a lathi, and in another instance she abandoned her prey, owing to the lucky circumstance of a mouthful of the bambon bundle on his back failing to please her taste. But these were rare exceptions to the monotonous tale of slaughter. One of the very last cases wa a particularly painful one. A peasant's wife objected to go to work in the fields, or rather cultivated terraces, pleading her fear of this beast the husband forced or persuaded her to go, promising to accompany her and stay near her while she worked. She was carried off before his eyes. People on the look out for this tigress with firearms could never find her; cattle she never killed; to elephants, her haunts were inaccessible, and it seemed clear that if she were ever destroyed it would be off the corpse of human being or the carcass of a langur, the only animal besides man on which she was known prey. And so it turned out. About a fortnight ago, the senior assistant commissioner of the Garhwal obtained the services of a dozen Goorkhas from the regiment quartered at Dehra; these plucky little men had only been a day or two across the river, when, on the 8th instant, the clergy as well as to the public. CARDINAL HOWARD.

Edward Henry Howard, grandson of Charles, brother to the twelfth Duke of Norfolk, is the son of the late Captain Edward Giles Howard, by his wife Frances Anne, eldest daughter of Robert George Heneage, Esq., of Haiton, Lincolnshire. She was a Protestant, but the requisite Pontifical dispensation was obtained for the marriage, and Edward Henry, who was born at Hainton 'on February 13th, 1829, was brought up a Roman Catholic.

When about twenty years of age he entered the 2nd Regiment of Life Guards, and in 1852, as an officer of that regiment, led the procession as smoothly as might be desired between Russia of the funeral of the late Duke of Wellington, and China. A few mails back the home papers -He remained in the Army for about four years, stated that the Russian Pacific fleet was to be and in 1853 embraced the ecclesiastic career, and entered the Pontifical Academy of Noble Ecclesiastics in Rome, making his theological studies in the Roman College. I He was ordained Sub-Deacon by Cardinal Wiseman in 1855, and, Priest by Cardinal Patrizi in 1856. In 1857 he was made a Private Chamberlain to Piux IX. Monsignor-Howard-was-next-appointed-to-be-Secretary to an important Mission specially sent | STEAM FOR SINGAPORE; PENANG, to India, in the year 1862 or 1863, to arrange. the Concordat with Portugal. Monsigner Saba, Archbishop of Carthage in partibus infidelium, who was head of that Mission, died before it was completed. Monsignor Howard visited Goa, and travelled through a great part of Southern India, Lazarest from Korea, and another fat indemnity discharging the duties entrusted to him with much tact and discretion. On his return to Rome, Pius IX, showed his appreciation of his services by creating him one of the Prelates of the Vatican.

On the demise of Cardinal Altiery, who died of cholera, in Albano, in 1867, the office of Archpriest of St. Peter's became vacant, and was conferred upon Cardinal Mattei, who appointed Monsignor Howard to be his Vicar. He continued to hold his post until he was created a Cardinal. In 1872 he was appointed Suffragan or Auxiliar to Cardinal Clarelli, Bishop of Frascati, and was consecrated Archbishop of Neo-Cæsaria in partibus infidelium, on the 30th of June, 1872. The ceremony was performed in St. Peter's. Cardinal Clarelli died on the 7th of the following July and it was supposed, by many persons who were ignorant of the traditional rules of the Sacred College, that Archbishop

Howard would have been appointed to succeed him as Cardinal, and Bishop of Frascati. But in the Consistory of July 29th, in the same year, 1875, Cardinal Guidi "opted" or "optated" for Frascati; and Archbishop Howard's connection with that see, which had lasted for only a few weeks, altogether ceased. Monsignor Howard, however, was not without occupation. Rome always finds plenty of work for capable and willing hands. As Spiritual Director or Confessor of the Students of the English College, as Archpriest's Vicar in St. Peter's, and as "Consultor" of the Special Congregation of the Propaganda for the Affairs of the Oriental Rite Monsignor Howard had many and laborious duties, all of which he performed carnestly and conscientiously. He had devoted himsolf with remarkable present to the study of languages, especially the Oriental, and for this reason probably had been chosen by Pius 1X, for the Mission to India, the chief labour of that Mission falling upon him as the Secretary; and in the Oriental Department of the Propaganda, where he had as fellow "consultors" Monsignors Franchi, Simeoni, and Bartolini, with Ludovico Jacobini as Secretary to the Congregation, he had full opportunity of exercising his special talents. All of those Monsignors just mentioned became Cardinals, and three of them became Secretaries of State. To the labours of that Oriental Congregation, which was instituted by Pius IX. for the special direction of Oriental ecclesiastical affairs, may be attributed the remarkable success in the Church affairs of the East which marked

Even before 1872 Monsignor Howard had been considered a likely person for early, and a certain one for eventual, promotion to the purple. It was known that he was a personal favourite with Pius IX., who always took an interest in eccleslastics of high birth, and had especial affection for English Roman Catholies. His character unblemished; he had from the first held aloof from all intrigues and entanglements. By this judicious conduct he acquired-esteem-and-respect. In the Consistory of March 12th, 1877, Pius, IX. fulfilled the general expectation, and created and published Edward Henry Howard a Cardinal of the Order of Priests, assigning him for his title the Church of SS. John and Paul, on the Colian the later years of the Pontificate of Plus IX., and which has been more fully developed under Leo

Cardinal Howard, as a Roman Cardinal, has his full share of work in the "Congregations," to five of which, including the very important Congregations of the Propaganda, the Propaganda Special for the Oriental Rite, and the Index, he was ap pointed. Among the highest posts which can be conferred on distinguished Cardinals are the three offices of Archpriest in the three great basiticas, namely, St. Peter's St. John Lateran, and St. Mary Major. When the most honourable and the most lucrative of the three offices became vacant by the unexpected death of Cardinal Borromeo, it was given to Cardinal Howard. The selection was most acceptable to the Vatican chapter and ment. A perfect fit and best workmanship guareceive back their former colleague as their official head, and those who frequent the Vatican services and functions, know that the ecclesiastical ceremonies will lose nothing of their proper dignity and splendour in consequence of the presence and supervision of Cardinal Howard. The present Archpriest is not the first Englishman nor the first Howard who has been connected with the Chapter of St. Peter's. Henry Stuart, the Cardinal of York, presided over the Chapter as Archpriest from 1751 to 1807. And the Rev. Richard Howard, brother to Thomas, the eighth Duke of Norfolk, and to Edward, the ninth Duke, was a Canon of St. Peter's, and, dying in Rome in 1722, was buried in the customary burial-place of the Canons. He was but thirty-five years old at his death, and his brother, Henry, the Bishop Elect of Utica in partibus and designated Vicar Apostolic in London, died, aged thirty-six years, in 1720.7-Graphic.
